Icon design Giuseppe Bavuso

Icon, designed by Giuseppe Bavuso, has been created using solutions of great technical value and strong visual impact, finishing elements capable of modifying the sense of comfort and giving the kitchen an interpretation which is not only aesthetic, but also tactile. Icon, which has been immensely successful ever since it was first launched in 2012, winning the Red Dot Design Award in 2013 and the Interior Award in 2015, is now enriched by new finishes and materials, new technical solutions and compositional ideas.

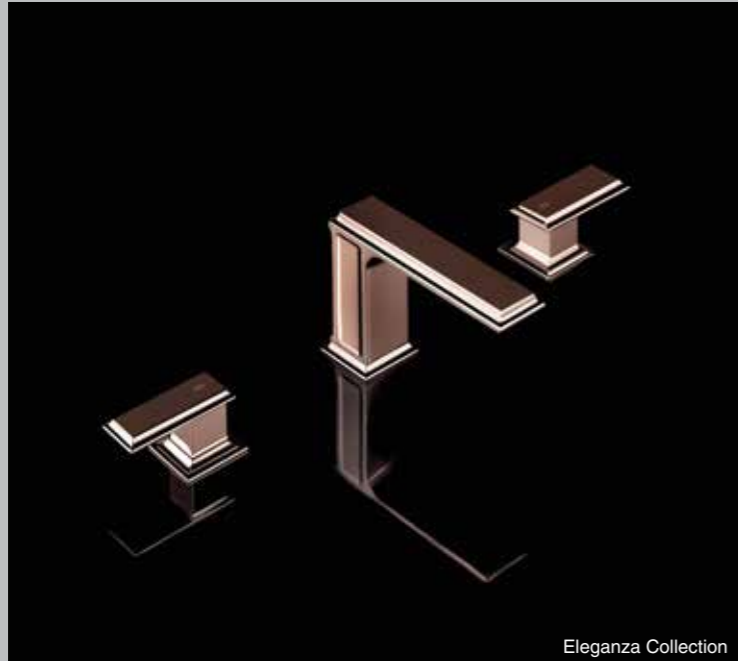

The new Icon compositions incorporate the programme's key features: the "Evolution" extensible peninsula, that is now also available in a new configuration on a corner base unit and the "Air" door, that is now finished with new, exclusive materials including porcelain stoneware, Piasentina stone and the prestigious 'Deluxe' solid woods.

And to accompany the kitchen, the new "Set" living area. Not just a small oasis of design for furnishing with elegance, but also a large surface to support a wide variety of items. Boiserie panels which can be equipped with shelves, suspended cabinets, wall units including the new 'Flap' with flap door or steel open shelves. The new oven containers are also in steel.

LAUFEN

Bathroom Culture since 1892  www.laufen.com

Since more than 120 years the Swiss bathroom brand LAUFEN stands for precision, quality, design and sustainability in the context of high-end complete bathroom concepts.

SaphirKeramik - The story goes on

In 2013 Laufen launched the innovative material SaphirKeramik, the world's thinnest ceramic material in the bathroom. Since then, this has been the company's leading product, generating a truly new trend in bathroom design by creating a new language of forms, that is now part of the collective imaginary: today, every washbasin and bath accessory can be expected to be much thinner and extreme hard.

The enormous success of this innovation has prompted Laufen to move forward with its commitment to experimentation, constantly striving to create products of the highest quality, technology and design. Research on the opportunities offered by SaphirKeramik, in fact, continues and will continue, thanks to the collaboration with outstanding designers and partners. In addition, Laufen is concurrently continuing to develop bespoke projects, supporting professionals in the contract and residential sectors.

All these ingredients have allowed the Swiss company to maintain its position as a leader for over one hundred years.

EQUILIBRIO
The new emotion of Gessi

The new wood floor collection designed for Listone Giordano, is a project developed around the concept of softness. Re-thinking traditional wood floor where rounded, beveled and curved boards along with a slight “bombé” effect of the surface create a new language in wood application. The smooth cut of the boards allows to play with new designs and compositions, which although similar to classic patterns of ancient wood floors, give life to modern and original herringbone, diagonal or full length geometries.

Internationally established designer Patricia Urquiola describes her newly born creation: “The BISCUIT parquet collection for Listone Giordano, is a project that is derived from the idea of creating softness and tenderness. It is a “remake” of the traditional parquet, in which the curved ending of the panels and the modest bumping of the surface are creating a dynamic flooring with a soft and subtle tactility. The cut-out elements in the panels create a modular system which, although similar to classical motifs of antique wooden floors, allows you to build and play with contemporary drawings and compositions, straight or diagonal, randomly or statically, herringbone, mosaic whilst respecting the beauty of its roots”.

Belle Collection

Enveloped in gold, Belle is one of the most elegant accessory collections by pomd'or

Belle is one of the accessory collections by pomd'or that stands out most for its elegance.

The collection is a creation by Italian designer Bruna Rapisarda, who in 2010-modelled different shapes inspired in the study of ellipse rotation. The result was a collection with exceptional personality and beauty, a blend of classic elegance with a modern air.

A collection in which harmony touches each detail. Exquisite pieces which rather than accessories, become a central part of a scene in which the material element becomes ethereal.

Sinuous shapes complement exceptional materials. The accessories (toilet brush, soap dish, dispenser and brush holder) are manufactured in white Velvet resin, with a soft touch, yet highly durable. They all have a metal elliptical base. The fittings (hooks, towel rail and paper holder) are manufactured in high quality alloy in chrome, white-chrome or in the news gold and white-gold.

- ✓ Brera District is one of the most popular Milanese neighbourhoods for what concerns night life. The narrow streets around the Brera Academy and the Corriere della Sera headquarters have several interesting boutiques of ladies apparel, curiosity shops, bric-à-brac and, in these last few years, antique shops. www.breradesigndistrict.it

Also, one can try The Brera Gallery at Pinacoteca di Brera, Via Brera, 28, 20121 Milano Tel. 02 722 63264-229 <http://www.brera.beniculturali.it/>
- ✓ Tortona District, an area between Naviglio Grande, Via Solari and Via Tortona is definitely one of Milan's most fashionable and outlandish districts. Years ago, abandoned industrial buildings were converted into workshops, studios, schools and showrooms.
- ✓ The Last Supper by Leonardo da Vinci is by far one of the most important works of art of all time, both for its innovative and for the impact it had on artists of all ages, from contemporary to Warhol. Santa Maria delle Grazie church at Piazza del Duomo, 20121 Milan, Italy contains the mural of The Last Supper by Leonardo da Vinci

The Royal Palace of Milan (Italian: Palazzo Reale di Milano) at Piazza Del Duomo, 12 – 20122 Milan was the seat of government of the Italian city of Milan for many centuries, but today is an important cultural centre, home to expositions and exhibitions.

The Museum of Twentieth Century (Museo del Novecento in Italian) is located in the Arengario palace near Duomo square in the centre of Milan. This museum is one of the most important art galleries about Italian and international Twentieth Century's art in Italy: of particular relevance are the sections dedicated to Futurism, Spatialism and Arte povera.
